

Janet Bales, Regional Director of Math Partnerships

As the Regional Director of Math Partnerships, Janet teams with all HMHCo Intervention Solution representatives from the West Region. With a depth of classroom and school district experience, she facilitates partnerships and mathematical conversations throughout the region. Within this role, Janet works with district administrators to identify math needs, support district math initiatives, and generate solutions to improve mathematical instruction and student success. She is a presenter at local, regional and national events and conferences throughout the western states sharing current issues and best practices in Mathematics instruction.
